The general public are of the belief that the word "storm" simply implies a precipitation of some kind, either rain, snow, or sleet, when, in fact, in a scientific sense the word "storm" means "wind in motion," and when storm is mentioned by the Weather Bureau it is expected that the winds will be high, regardless of the attending conditions.

Every good cook is careful to dispose at once of the water in which meat has been washed. Only a few hours are necessary to change it into a foul-smelling liquid if the temperature is suitable. This change is due to a little plant called bacterium termo. A drop of this putrid material under the microscope reveals many thousands of them, acting under a virulent motion.

Mr. H. Dixon has been studying the locomotion of insects and spiders by means of instantaneous photographs. He finds, says Nature, that the limbs move together in diagonals. In insects the first and third legs on one side move with the second on the other side, the antennae moving with the first leg on the same side. In the case of spiders, which have eight legs, the first and third on one side move with the second and fourth on the other.

Guess For $1,000.

The Weekly Courier-Journal has announced another of its popular guessing contests, taking the temperature at Louisville during the month of August as the basis. One thousand dollars in cash will be given free as presents to the new or old renewing subscribers who guess the hottest day, at Louisville, during August, and give the closest guess to the highest temperature the Weather Bureau thermometer will reach on that day. The subscription price of the Weekly Courier-Journal is $1 a year. Each guess must be accompanied by one yearly subscription. No newspaper published in the United States has been so liberal to its subscribers, or has offered such liberal prizes to secure new subscribers, as the Courier-Journal. During the past eighteen months it has given away in presents, absolutely free, $37,400 in money, not to mention such premium articles as sewing machines, watches, guns, etc. This in spite of the business depression, that is felt as much or more in newspaper offices than in any other business. The Weekly Courier-Journal has just announced the lucky guessers in its May rainfall contest. There were 222 of those guessers, distributed over the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Texas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Indiana, Virginia, Missouri, Louisiana, Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Indian Territory, Michigan, South Carolina, South Dakota, West Virginia, New York, California, Florida, Washington and Oklahoma. No better indication of the circulation of the Weekly Courier-Journal could be had than this list. Sample copies of the paper, with full details and blanks, may be had by sending a request on a postal card. Address Weekly Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky. The contest closes July 31st.

UNEXPECTED RESULTS.

Mr. Allen met the girls at the landing with a carriage, and as they had previously arranged, Nellie passed the night with Kittle.

Kittle had been motherless for several years. But to her good kind father who was now both father and mother to her, she generally confided [all her affairs, but this evening although she told many pleasant little incidents of the trip she neglected to tell him of the new friends they had made.

That night when they had retired and were talking over the events of the day, girl fashion, Kittle said "Well, we did have a real experience to-day. I feel as if I had met my fate. I know they will come to claim us soon in true knight fashion. But till they make themselves known I don't believe you had better tell your parents about them and I won't tell papa, it might cause prejudice against them, you know, and our folks might think we didn't do just the right thing. Of course when they know them it will be all right."

"My!" returned Nell, "wouldn't the lady principal be shocked if she knew of our escapade to-day!"

"But sheldon!" answered Kittle "and we have had a lovely time and nobody need ever be the wiser."

"I guess the reason why we enjoyed it so much is because for forbidden pleasures are always sweet," sighed Nell. Later that night, Bridget, the Landon's servant girl, was awakened by someone gently fanning her. And was terrified, on opening her eyes, to see a masked man sitting on the side of the bed whistling a fan over her face. Before she could scream he raised a revolver threateningly and whispered fiercely "Hush, hush." Then in a cooler tone he remarked "Never mind making any fuss. I just want to trouble you for a little information. Of course you must answer my questions truthfully, for if I find you misleading me in the slightest, particularly if I will go very hard with you," he went on with a menacing glance at his weapon.

"Who are in this house besides your self?" Holy Moses!" gasped poor Bridget. "There's nobody here but Mister and Misses Landon, Dottie and me, and had luck to us!"

Who else belongs here?" "Sure then, the coachman has gone yesterday, and more of the play—and Miss Nellie, she's away to-night because she didn't come home."

"Is this Nellie Landon's home?" "Aint that just what I told ye! and what that to ye?"

Nothing only give her my compliments. Tell her I am sorry she was not at home when I called," he said with a disagreeable little laugh. "But come I haven't a great deal of time to waste on this call. I shall have to trouble you to show me over the house. As I am a stranger it is troublesome to find my way around your house. First take me to Mr. and Mrs. Landon's room, and mind not fooling about it, or I shall have to use violence to my sense of courtesy," he said as he pointed his revolver at Bridget's ghastly countenance. Jump up now, you needn't wait to make your toilet, I don't care for any thing stylish, here's a large shawl which will do very well, and be quite comfortable for you!" Bridget walked with fear led the way. Once she attempted to escape by dodging through a side door leading off from the hall, but she was soon caught and her pursuer forcibly remarked, "That dodging game won't work, my lady, and I give you fair warning that if you even attempt it again I'll dispose of you." Her last hope of alarming the family was to stumble over something and thus make a noise. She remembered the case which stood at the end of the hall and running as swiftly as she dared against it, managed to overturn it, which made a violent crash. Mrs. Landon instantly called out "Who's there?" To Bridget's amazement and terror he instantly and fiercely whispered "say you are—say you're sick." She tremblingly obeyed. Mrs. Landon came to the door at once. The instant the door was opened, Bridget darted through and dodged under the bed.

The unsuspectingly good burglar pointing a revolver at Mrs. Landon who at Mr. Landon's as he roused up, remarked, "sorry to disturb your slumbers but, really, to make a long story short, my business here is to relieve you of a few of your surplus valuables, money also will be very acceptable. So while I am busily engaged in making my selection, please oblige me by taking your seats on the side of the bed. Mr. Landon I'll trouble you to take the first seat, your wife may sit next, and the young lady under the bed will come forth and sit next. There, now I've got you arranged to my satisfaction, so I'll proceed with my work. Have a care to confine whatever remarks you may wish to make to a conversational tone, for I don't care to have the neighbors disturbed," he said to Mr. Landon who was fairly writhing in his anger. But his burning and fretting availed nothing. All were perfectly helpless, for as the audacious visitor went through every drawer and pocket with one hand, he kept a revolver leveled at them in his other hand, not allowing their slightest movement to escape him.

When finally he had gone deliberately through with his work turning to them with a laugh that sounded any thing but pleasant to his prisoners, he said "I'll now trouble you to escort me to the door—and, in passing, I would have you know that it will not be best for you to attempt to return this call in any form for at least fifteen minutes, as I have friends on the outside whose acquaintance you would not care to make just at this time. I may also remark that all the telephone and alarm wires are cut."

"Oh you villainous thief—I'll pay you back,"

"Oh that's all right, my good friend, such work as this is right in my regular line, my calling, as it were, but I don't propose to leave my address with you, nor give you any chance to pay me back, either."

Then he compelled them all to march before him to a position near the door, and bidding them a pleasant "good evening" moved gracefully and quickly out into the darkness.

Of course the burglary was declared to be one of the most cool and high-handed ever committed in the city. The papers were full of it, and almost every means taken to bring to light the perpetrator and his accomplices.

At last, by merest chance, a man was arrested in New York City as being a "suspicious character." Upon search some of the Landon jewelry was found to be in his possession. But he was short in stature while the one who took the property was tall. However the suggestion was soon made that it is a custom of burglars to travel in pairs, one tall and the other short, the object being to thwart identification, the short one, for instance will do the inside work, the tall one the guarding on the outside. As soon as the fall is done, and an alarm given, the tall one makes noise enough by his running to attract the attention of approaching officers towards himself. If he is caught the conflict in size prevents the parties robbed from recognizing him, and claiming to be an innocent passer-by in haste to catch a train, find a doctor or some such errand, he is allowed to pass on, meanwhile the actual operator with the booty shrewdly escapes in a different direction. In as much as the footstep of two persons, rapidly retreating, were distinctly heard immediately after this burglary had been committed, it was believed that two persons were certainly participating in the criminal act. Accordingly this "suspicious character" was put upon trial.

In defense he stoutly maintained that the goods found in his possession had been innocently purchased by him in Chicago, and moreover that he had never in his life before been in Louisville—Mr. Landon's home. And there seemed to be no way of connecting him definitely with this city at the time of the burglary until a strange little incident happened.

One evening during the progress of the trial, Mr. Lane, one of the lawyers for the state, who called to see Mr. Landon in regard to the prosecution, said, "If we only had some satisfactory proof that this man was actually in Louisville on the night of the 25th, (the night of the burglary) it would so connect the other evidence as to make the chain of proof complete."

Just then little Dottie ran into the room with a picture in her hand, crying "see! look at what I found in Nellie's writing desk. It proved to be the poor little tin type taken on the memorable day of the excursion, with the date, Aug 25th, written on the back. But they doer Mr. Lane gaze at it so intently, and why take it away with him when he goes?"

Meanwhile Kittle and Nell have never heard anything from their gaudy escorts on the day of the excursion, and were beginning to laugh over their experience as a harmless little flirtation. Secretly, however, Kittle spent a good many hours wondering if the hopes raised that day were only a delusion.

The next day after Mr. Lane called the girls were both summoned to appear in court and identify the prisoner at the bar as being the young man in the picture. In the examination which followed the whole story of their meeting and acquaintance with the prisoner came out, and was published broadcast by the papers.

The other criminal was soon arrested, identified, and both were sentenced to a long term of years in the penitentiary. Think of the humiliation of Kittle and Nell! Of the notoriety given to their rash conduct. The pain and shame brought upon all those who were nearest and dearest to them.

But be it known, that their repentance was true and sincere. Yet it did that avail towards obliterating their past folly.

Never again could their friends have that perfect unquestioning confidence in their discretion and integrity as before.

"Oh!" said Kittle with a burst of tears, it will shadow all our future with suspicious and distrust." And she vividly recalled the almost plying contempt with which her old time friends now seemed to regard her. Nellie who was really the more sensitive of the two, felt the disgrace even more keenly than Kittle.

It was years before the Judge's remarks to the girls, at the close of the trial about flirting with strangers, ceased to ring in their ears. It was a stinging sharp lesson never to be forgotten by either of them.

ISABELLA SNIDER

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he has been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have throat, lung or chest trouble try it. It will guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Owsen,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are sold under the name of Castoria. It is a safe, reliable, and pleasant remedy, and will cure all the ailments of children, and give them a healthy and natural sleep."

Dr. J. F. Kitchener,
Covington, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any preparation known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their success in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have some medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Congress.

We are authorized to announce Hon. J. M. Kendall, of Floyd county as candidate for Congress from the Tenth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

We are authorized to announce Col. A. W. Hamilton, of Montgomery, as a candidate for Congress from the Tenth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

We are authorized to announce C. B. Hill, of Beattyville, as a candidate for Congress from the Tenth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

We are authorized to announce Judge W. M. Becker, as a candidate for Congress from the Tenth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

For Railroad Commissioner.

We are authorized to announce John C. Wood as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, for the Eastern District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican Party.

People on every side, almost, are asking with bated breath, "What does this epidemic of crime mean within our borders?" Have we become so lost to all sense of law and order that human life has ceased to have a value attached to it?

Surely when our country presents the record of these killings and one suicide from morning to six o'clock the next Saturday evening, and all this within a radius of four or five miles of our Court House, it is time we should hang our heads for very shame. We will, at this rate, soon be a stench in the nostrils of our neighbors. If indeed our past record, which is scarcely broken by this last outbreak, has not already made us so. The day is not only at hand, but is far past, when a healthy public sentiment should so come to the front and make itself apparent, that a halt will be called on such utter disregard for human life. Let every good citizen so strengthen the hands of our custodians of the peace that they will not only know that a faithful discharge of their duty is demanded of them, but that they will be upheld in the discharge of that duty. Until this is done we can hope for nothing better. Such a strong, healthy public sentiment must be made plainly manifest before a better state of things can be hoped for. Don't talk about the inadequacy of the law to remedy these matters. The law is all right. It is only a hearty co-operation on the part of our citizens with the officials that is needed. Let men feel that if they transgress the law its penalties will surely be visited upon them, and the lawless will not be long in making themselves less prominent. But so long as transgressors go unwhipped of justice we need not look for better things.

These "holier-than-thou-art" fellows who prate about corruption in Democratic primaries give us "that tired feeling." These same immediate teachers of morality and political integrity will not only advocate the election of every Democratic nominee, regardless of the manner in which the nomination was secured, but will resort to the most contemptible methods and indulge in all the mud-slinging of which a Democratic newspaper is capable, and will not stop at misrepresentation and abuse to accomplish the defeat of a Republican, no matter what his moral standing or personal worth. The level of consciousness does not adorn the brow of some Democratic editors we know of.—The Mt. Sterling (Force Bill) Gazette.

No one who knows the editor of the Gazette and his practices will be at all surprised that it gives him "that tired feeling" when any one is honest enough to condemn corruption in politics, even though that one happens to be a Democrat, and passes those strictures on members of his own party. The past political history of this editor of the Gazette has shown that he is willing to endorse any man or measure—let that man or measure be so vile as it may—that is put forward by his party. This same editor of the Gazette is now a candidate for the Republican nomination for Railroad Commissioner.

We promise him, if he secures the coveted honor, that some of these Democratic editors will give him "that tired feeling" some more before they are done holding up to public gaze the "ree-cord" of this same editor of the Gazette. Johnny these "on-purty" things come with a mighty poor grace from your pen. We know you. This community knows you. For one, the Advocate, will, when occasion demands, give you some free advertising in a wider field than the Gazette has been able to do for you.

Looks Like Kendall.

It looks very much as though Hon. J. M. Kendall would go to the Campion Convention with votes sufficient to nominate him. So far as heard from, he has instructions in Floyd (6); Knott (3); Martin (1); Johnson (4); Magoffin (3); Powell (3); Morgan (6); Menefee (2), and Wolf (3), making 31 votes in the counties heard from. He will, in all probability, go to the Convention with at least 36 out of the 73 votes instructed for him, and with second instructions sufficient to insure him the nomination with but little contest.

The Democratic of Montgomery county held precinct conventions to send delegates to the Delegate Convention that meets at the Court House this afternoon to select those who shall go to Campion to the Congressional Convention. Of course all the precincts instructed for Col. A. W. Hamilton and left no string tied to their instructions. Montgomery has no second choice so long as Col Hamilton is before the convention.

Literary Notes.

The July number of The Forum will be, as usual, a special educational number; and, as usual, it will deal with very practical problems in education—problems of interest not only to professional educators only, but problems that touch the very base of our system of training. The three articles are: "The Ideal Training of an American Boy," a working statement of the highest ideal, by P. O. Thomas Davidson; "Research the Vitiating Method of Higher Teaching," by President J. Stanley Hall—the most suggestive of his series of articles; and "Will the Co-educational educate their children?" In other words, will women who attend co-educational colleges send their children, especially their daughters, to these colleges? This article, by Prof. Martha Foote Crow, of the University of Chicago, is based on a series of inquiries made of the Alumni of Cornell, the University of Michigan, and the other co-educational schools.

Madagascar.

An Illustrated Lecture on the manners, customs and religious state of the Island of Madagascar will be delivered at the Christian church on Tuesday evening, June 26, by Wm. H. Meyers, of Piqua, Ohio.

The "Oxy-hydrogen Stereopticon," the finest and most brilliant light known, will be used to make the illustrations.

Alex C. Hopkins, for eight years the Kentucky Sunday-School Evangelist, and his daughter will assist with some beautiful gospel singing. For particulars see the large posters.

Three masked men perpetrated an infamous outrage on Attorney-General Tansy, of Colorado, Friday night. They called him up at 12 o'clock from his hotel at Colorado Springs, and forced him to accompany them three miles into the country, where they stripped him and gave him a coat of tar and feathers. Gov. Wate offered $1,000 reward for the villains. And the excitement runs high. It was known that Tansy was in sympathy with the unionists and it is supposed that some of the special Deputy Sheriffs are at the bottom of the affair.

The Four Seasons Stock Company will play a return date at the Grand Opera House, on Tuesday evening, July 3, 1894, presenting Gilbert's celebrated comedy "Engaged." Miss Ella Procter Oils assuming the leading role, and the full strength of the company being presented.

THE PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

Assassinated in the Streets of Lyons.

The President of France, M. Sadi Carnot was killed on Sunday night. The Courier Journal of yesterday says: President Carnot assassinated, was the startling news flashed over the entire civilized world from Lyons last night. It was difficult to believe that the popular chief executive of France had fallen a victim to either anarchist or madman, but the news was only too true. It caused a shock throughout Europe scarcely less than the sensation caused in the United States by the assassination of Lincoln and Garfield. The circumstances surrounding the tragedy were scarcely less sensational. President Carnot had gone to Lyons to attend a celebration in connection with an international exhibition. After a reception, a visit to the exhibition and a banquet, he started to the theater, where a gala performance was being given in his honor. While he was receiving the ovation of the enthusiastic people who thronged the street a man sprang upon the steps of the carriage, and while others observed with glee he gave the President his death wound with a knife. M. Carnot was conveyed to the Prefecture, where he died shortly after midnight. The assassin, a young Italian named Sano, was seized by officers and was with difficulty saved from the fury of a mob. The natural supposition is that he is an anarchist, but he is not known. The crime caused tremendous excitement. The President's successor must be elected within three days by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

Four Killed.

At Beaver Dam last Saturday, Mr. Lewis Maddox, wife, two children and sister-in-law, while crossing the railroad track in a wagon, were run into by a passenger train and killed. They had been visiting friends in the neighborhood and were returning to their home.

The city authorities virtually abandoned the prosecution of "Gen" Kelley and "Col." Baker after learning the "General's" story. Mr. Anson Kohn moved to dismiss the prosecution, stating he was sure that this was Mayor Tyler's wish. The courtroom was filled with "industrial" sympathizers. In the evening the two tramp leaders spoke to an immense crowd at National Park, not failing to suggest that contributions were expected and denied. Many desertions are reported from the "army," and it will be moved to a new camp.—Courier-Journal.

A woman claiming to be the wife of J. J. Lancaster, formerly of Central City, Ky., is being held at Greenville, Tex., suspected of having poisoned Lancaster, who has a wife and children now at Paducah. The woman is supposed to be Lancaster's daughter-in-law, who had separated from her husband.

Delegates representing the 6,000 coal miners of Indiana assembled in state convention at Terre Haute, and unanimously declared the strike off. A resolution was adopted demanding the resignations of the national and district officers who signed the Columbus agreement.

Henry L. Gaudy, of Hazel Green, a young man well known in this county, and one of the brightest young men of Eastern Kentucky, was last week appointed Distributing Clerk in the post office department at Washington with a salary of $2,500. The appointment was secured by Mr. Lisle.

Prohibitionists of the Eighth Kentucky district nominated T. B. DeLaure as their candidate for Congress.

THE CONTROVERSIAL CLUB.

A Delightful Banquet Winds Up a Splendid Year's Work.

The gentlemen composing the Mt. Sterling Controversial Club wound up its first year's history by a splendid banquet at the National Hotel on Thursday night. The Club has done a fine year's work and has developed a truly wonderful amount of forensic talent. The membership comprises a number of the very best of our younger business men, and each one is a gentleman of more than average native ability. Mine host, Harlan C. Turner, of the National Hotel, furnished the materials for the elegant spread that was served to the members. The manner in which the service was rendered, has put the members of the Club on exceedingly good terms with Mr. Turner, and mine host has every reason to be on quite as good terms with himself. He gave his personal attention to the service, and even the most exacting could not have asked for a better.

"He hath a heavenly gift of prophecy, And timely blaspheams hang about his throne, That speak him full of power."
Response by J. LAWRENCE WATTS.

"The very last; The sheep are gone to fold, hither to their fold; Do not come to us to part, and bid good-night."
Response by J. LAWRENCE WATTS.

Judge Howard R. French made a Toast Master that filled to the utmost the expectations of his most sanguine friends. His happy little speeches were each a gem in itself. Filled with wit or pathos as the subject demanded, he kept the table wondering if there was any end to his seemingly exhaustless variety. The responses were, if possible, even more of a delightfully original variety than the happy little of the gentleman who presided at the feast of his second year of life.

So very good and nothing even mediocre, it is not possible to particularize. The character of the responses spoke in most unmistakable language, the good the club has accomplished during its single year of existence. Every speech was pitched on a plane that told its producer was living in a world of thought, that was away above the common level. These too told that the men who made them were men who must, at no distant day, show to the world that each had something in store for its material advancement, and when it should need his service he would be on hand ready equipped to offer of his battle against the common foe.

The Club has adjourned for the second term, and will next October enter upon its second year of life with a renewed vigor that will win for it still greater measure of growth among those who compose its membership.

No young man, of this community, who can secure membership in the Club, can afford to lose the opportunity offered him, for advancement, that he will find in its ranks.

A HISTORY OF THE CLUB.

(One of the members has kindly furnished us with the following):

The Controversial Club was organized in December of the past year, by the following gentlemen: H. R. Bright, F. E. Fogg, E. R. Gwy, C. D. Grubbs, J. C. Reid, Reid Rogers and R. H. Wins. A permanent organization was completed January 9th, with Reid Rogers, President; R. H. Wins, Vice President; F. E. Fogg, Secretary; C. D. Grubbs, Treasurer; J. C. Reid, Marshal, and R. G. Wins and R. H. Turner, Managing Committee. The object of the association, as stated in the preamble of the constitution, are the acquirement of a greater familiarity with the duties of citizenship, a critical investigation into the social and political problems of the day and the cultivation of a closer fellowship among those actuated by a common desire for self-improvement.

The method of investigation employed is, as the name implies, controversial. Two members for each side are selected by the Managing Committee, who likewise usually select the question for discussion two weeks beforehand. These members are expected to inform themselves particularly upon the subject, and to lay a ground for general debate among the body of the society when the special debate is closed. The members then summed up by the President and put to the members, who are expected to vote their actual sentiments.

While the field of inquiry has been so broad as to embrace questions of purely scientific interest, such as the doctrine of evolution on the one hand and questions so far as "Is marriage a failure," or the other, in the main the effort has been to confine debate to questions of political utility and contemporary interest. The current issues of the day, whether social or political, have absorbed the most attention and led to the most agreeable and instructive discussions. The Municipal Ownership of the Water Works, The Income Tax, The Proposed Tariff of One Cent a Pound upon Sugar with Trade Advantages, The Annexation of Hawaii, the Nicaragua Canal, The Educational Suffrage Bill Proposed at the last Legislature, The Husband and Wife Bill Actually Adopted, The First Year of Cleveland's Administration, Political Independence as Preferable to Party Allegiance, The Duty of the Constitution in Respect to the Private Morals of his Representatives, and many other active questions of a similar nature have been passed in review. Historical and literary propositions have been less frequently submitted. The advantages of free discussion of questions of actual daily importance are these are obvious. The acquisition of experience in off-hand address and the logically presentation of ideas of itself of great advantage to the members of which most members of the Club during the past winter availed themselves to a marked degree; but it yields in importance the formation of sound and sound judgments in each member concerning his civil and political obligations, both generally and in relation to the question of the hour, at a time when it is free from party excitement and all considerations of mere party or personal interest. A correct apprehension of the objects of their association seems to reveal among the members, and the esprit de corps well maintained.

The Club in its workings is modeled as closely as possible upon the House of Representatives. The rules of order and procedure are the same, and a system of parliamentary address and decorum is required. The machinery for the transaction of business is purposely made formal and complicated for the purposes of instruction.

Officers are elected every two months, and no one is allowed to elude a nomination or to resign performance of a duty. The membership, now reduced to twenty, is limited to twenty. The present officers are: H. R. Bright, President; R. G. Kern, Vice President; F. E. Fogg, Treasurer; Col. Reid, Marshal; Secretary; G. W. Trimble, Marshal; Chas. Duff, and C. W. Fowler, Managing Committee. At an intermediate term, G. Wins served as President and C. Grubbs and W. B. White as Vice President and Secretary, respectively.

The funeral of George Alexander, whose life came to an untimely end on last Saturday, was preached by Elders H. D. Clark and B. W. Trimble at his late residence on Monday morning, and his body was buried by the order of Odd Fellows in Macphail cemetery. Mr. Alexander was forty years old, and had been for years a consistent member of the Christian church. As a citizen, an Odd Fellow and a Christian, no measure has ever been raised against him. He was a man who attended strictly to his own business. He leaves a wife and children. His loved ones miss his sympathy of our people.

Miss Lullie, daughter of H. R. Williams, died on Sunday, June 24. She was a very bright and cheerful young lady, though for a long time an invalid. She was a member of the Baptist church, and often told her friends not to expect a tear for her, for she was going to prepare a place for the rest of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Williams request us to thank the good neighbors (through your columns) for their kind attention during their daughter's illness.

$1000 Worth

Of Other Medicines Failed But Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

Mr. Arthur McConnell, Pensacola, Florida.

"I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "One thousand dollars' worth of other medicines, prescriptions, etc., have failed to do for me what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done. My home is in Florida, but in 1884 I went to California and lived there four years. I was taken sick in 1886 and had medical assistance, but found no relief. The doctors said I had chronic bronchitis. I was in the Marine Hospital at San Francisco several months and at Earl Medical College, Chicago, 11 months, but still did not get better, so came back to Pensacola. My weight was then 130 pounds with a heavy overcoat on.

My Friends Did Not Know Me, I was so thin and broken down. But the climate and being at home gave me a little courage and I began trying various medicines. In August, 1890, I was appointed to a position in the United States custom house. My friends urged my wife to have me try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took it three times a day just to please her. But to my surprise I commenced to feel differently after a week on Hood's. I found I was hungry and that I could sleep better; that food feeling also left me. So I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla; have used nine bottles and four boxes of Hood's Pills, with the result that:

I am now in good health, weigh 187 pounds, have a good appetite, sleep well, and have not lost a day's work since I began to take this medicine. When everything else has failed, I found that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures." ARTHUR McCONNELL, United States Barge Office, Pensacola, Florida.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and absolutely, on the liver and bowels. 25c.

A Montgomery Boy.

Dr. Howard Van Antwerp has, by his skill and popularity, won himself and his town a very nice slice of really enviable notoriety in the past two weeks. June 15 and 16 at the State meeting, at Owensboro, Mr. Van Antwerp had the following races: One, one-fourth mile heat; one, one-half mile race (State championship); and a one mile open race. The time he made in the one-half mile race was 1:11, standing start, the best time made by any of the A. or B. class men. After winning distinction for himself at Owensboro, and bringing home several handsome prizes, among which was a beautiful Onyx clock, he went to Louisville to attend the State Dental Association, which was held there June 18, 20 and 21. The following is what Thursday's Times says about it: "The State Dental Association held its last meeting at the Hospital College of Dentistry this morning. The principal business was the election of officers. The following were chosen: President, Dr. Howard Van Antwerp, Mt. Sterling; Vice President, Dr. J. F. Rees, Owensboro; Secretary, Dr. J. H. Balderis, Louisville; Treasurer, Dr. J. F. Canine, Louisville.

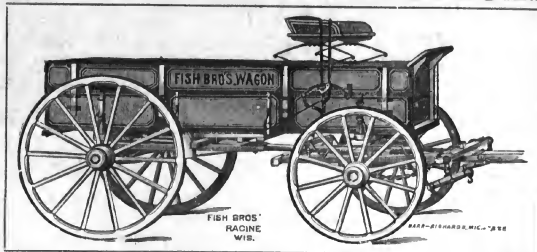

Lexington was selected as the place for the next meeting, and shortly after 12 o'clock the convention adjourned." Saturday Dr. Van Antwerp went to Lexington and won a mile scratch race, and also a two mile handicap from the best riders in the bluegrass.

A. W. Stofer sold to Wm. Bush 80 lambs, at 4c, that averaged 84 pounds.

D. G. Howell sold to Wm. Bush, for Leighman, 20 head of cattle at 4c and 4 head for 4c.

Aunt Katie Gay, of Winchester, is visiting her grand-daughter, Mrs. D. G. Howell, this week.

That unfortunate killing on last Saturday evening of George Alexander by English Anderson, has cast a gloom upon this community, and has made the hearts of the friends of both parties sad. Both have many friends in this neighborhood.

The rain on last Sunday was the heaviest and most appreciated of the season, for crops of all kinds were needing it, especially tobacco. The crop is an average one in acreage and condition. The wheat is now being harvested and will be above average in quality, and about three-fourths in yield. Rye is below the average; it has never recovered from the effects of the snow. Oats are nearly a failure. The past ten days has been most favorable to the corn crop, and the condition at present is above average. Grasses of all kinds are short, especially meadows. Gardens have improved and vegetables of all kinds are plentiful. There will be a good supply of winter apples, and about half crop of summer apples. The blackberry crop will be large. There will not be over half crop of Irish potatoes, as the freeze in March killed them. Watermelons will be late, but if seasonable there will be a good supply.

Catarrah in the Head

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many severe cases of catarrah. Catarrah oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

"It has cured others and will cure you" is true only of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The motto suits the medicine and the medicine the motto. What better assurance could you have that a remedy will cure you, than the fact that it has cured such multitudes of others?

Guess For $1,000.

The Weekly Courier-Journal has announced another of its popular guessing contests, taking the temperature at Louisville during the month of August as the basis. One thousand dollars in cash will be given free as presents to the new or old renewing subscribers who guess the hottest day, at Louisville, during August, and give the closest guess to the highest temperature the Weather Bureau thermometer will reach on that day. The subscription price of the Weekly Courier-Journal is $1 a year. Each guess must be accompanied by one yearly subscription. No newspaper published in the United States has been so liberal to its subscribers, or has offered such liberal prizes to secure new subscribers, as the Courier-Journal. During the past eighteen months it has given away in presents, absolutely free, $17,000 in money, not to mention such premium articles as sewing machines, watches, guns, etc. This in spite of the business depression, that is felt as much or more in newspaper offices than in any other business. The Weekly Courier-Journal has just announced the lucky guessers in its May rainfall contest. There were 222 of those guessers, distributed over the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Texas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Indiana, Virginia, Missouri, Louisiana, Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Indian Territory, Michigan, South Carolina, North Dakota, West Virginia, New York, California, Florida, Washington and Oklahoma. No better indication of the circulation of the Weekly Courier-Journal could be had than this list. Sample copies of the paper, with full details and blanks, may be had by sending a request on a postal card. Address: Weekly Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky. The contest closes July 31st.

Jalous Contention
have resulted in misery the world over. People who are well disposed and not bound by self-interest, are willing to accord credit wherever merited and due. Civilization is gradually bringing the human race up to this elevation, and in exact proportion is Dr. Fennel's Kidney and Backache Cure coming to be recognized as the correct and standard remedy in all kidney, female, and blood diseases—being able to cure them readily. It is specific in all skin eruptions, eczema, eczema, dandruff, headache, dizziness, listlessness, constipation, etc. Sold by dealers on guaranty for many years. Therefore don't cost much to try it. Takes home a bottle to-day.

According to Dr. Gould there are 6100 stars in the Northern and 7800 in the Southern Hemisphere distinctly visible to the naked eye. The enormous globe of Jupiter differs from ours in almost every respect. It is eleven times larger in diameter than the earth, being 125 times greater in solidity. It gravitates slowly in a year equal to twelve of our years, a five times the distance from the sun as compared with us, so that the light and heat it receives are twenty-five times less intense than ours.

The best salve in the world for corns, blisters, ulcers, salt rheum, fever, swell, better chapped hands, eczema, corns, and all skin eruptions, or positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by W. S. Lloyd. 19-1f

Hardin in the Nashville Jail.
Nashville, Tenn., June 5.—Charles Hardin, alias Ketchum, was placed in the Davidson county jail this afternoon, and the charge of embezzlement and fraudulent breach of trust was written opposite his name. Hardin was brought here from Kansas City this morning, but for some reason was not taken to jail until after 3 o'clock. Hardin is observing the injunction of his attorneys not to talk about his case. He is charged with robbing two express packages between Cincinnati and Louisville of $25,000 and $10,000 each. He and his three alleged accomplices, Chariton Elrod, Charles Taylor and James Morris, are all indicted here, and are all now in jail.

Louisville Tobacco Market.
Sales on our market for the week just closed, amount to 2,473 hds., with receipts for the same period, 2,529 hds. Sales on our market since January last, amount to 88,948 hds. Sales of the crop of 1893 on our market to this date amount 89,631 hds.

We are able to report another week of decided activity for burley tobacco. Values on all grades being fully maintained with a quotable stronger market for colory goods and for the medium to good grades of red leaf. We have received a great many reports regarding weather conditions throughout the State and it is not far from the "facts in the case" to say that within the past week, some part of nearly every tobacco county within the State has had rain, but we doubt if it has rained over any entire county. The rains have been local but extended over a wide territory. Under these conditions it is difficult to decide the extent of the recent clearing. We think, however, that 85 per cent. of the intended burley crop has reached the hill and it is not unlikely that prospect is very much according to locality.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco. (1893 crop)

Trash. (Dark damaged tobacco) $2.50 to $3.50.
Common colory trash, $4.00 to $4.50
Medium to good colory trash, $5.00 to $7.50.
Common lugs, not colory, $4.50 to $5.50.
Common colory lugs, $6.50 to $7.50.
Medium to good colory lugs, $7.50 to $10.00.
Common to medium leaf $8.50 to $12.00.
Medium to good leaf $12.00 to $16.00.
Good to fine leaf, $16 to $18.
Select wraperry leaf, $18 to $23.50.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Alma Mater will drop a foal to Wilton early next month.

The pacer Coast Boy, 2:14, is in C. D. Davis' stable.

Amboy trotted a mile in 2:13 1/2 over the Holmesburg, Pa., track last week.

Prima Donna, 2:09, paced three miles in 2:17, 2:14 and 2:13, at Lexington track last week.

There are classes for 2:00, 2:10 and 2:11 pacers in the Grand Circuit this year. An exchange remarks that it looks as if the end of the free-for-all was near.

George Singler's mare Gabrielle, by Star Duroc, worked a mile in 2:18, last fall in 1:07, over the track at Harrodsburg in a week.

Flying Jib is evidently up to his last year's capers again, for after winning one heat in his Denver race he acted so badly that he was distanced in the next.

Hickok has reduced the weight of Directors' shoes quite a bit, and the black horse seems to act the better for it. A mile in 1:24 is the fastest he has stepped since he has been at Terra Haute.

The indolent owner who thinks he is employing proper talent to develop his prospect is the one who suffers, and he takes his pay generally in selling "how his prospective world-beater was knocked out."

Lila Turner by Jerome Turner was driven by Richard Curry on Tuesday morning, three miles, as follows: 2:24, 2:22, 2:19. She is one of the best green ones on the grounds of the Kentucky Trotting-Horse Breeders Association.

The day that Flying Jib went in 2:11 at Denver his rival, Robert J., worked a mile for Mr. Hamlin in 2:11, doing the last half in 1:02. Tusamuch as the Jib was distanced in the second heat Saturday, it would look as if he would have more than he could negotiate when he strikes the Buffalo pacer.

One horse in training will need short, lively brushes, another a good deal of logging and but little speeding, while another will do much better with a great deal of road work and but little track work, but none should be given extreme effort until their muscles and systems in general are prepared for it.

The Terra Haute Express says that the Russian groom that is along with the Orloff tratter Karakus, knows a thing or two when he runs up against it, and while he cannot talk much English, he once in a while uses the few words in his vocabulary with a strong effect. He sizes up the Orloff trotter in the following sentence: "The Russian horse is what you call no good. He goes two miles, then lays down all night and don't eat for a week. The American horse goes two miles, walks around his stall all night and eats, and the next morning goes out of his stall on his hind feet."

35 Complete Novels

Nearly bound, and a year's subscription to a large 16-page illustrated monthly magazine for only 30 cents. This is a most liberal offer as Household Topics, the paper referred to, is a high-class paper, replete with stories of love, adventure, travel, and short interesting and instructive sketches of fact and fancy; and in the list of 35 novels are such treasures as, "A Brave Coward," by Robert Louis Stevenson; "A Blacksmith's Daughter," by Etta W. Pierce; "Ninette," a most pleasing story by M. T. Calder; "A Gilded Sin" and "Between Two Sins," by the author of "Dora Thorne"; "The Truth of It," by the popular writer, Hugh Conway; and the "Morse-house Tragedy," rather sensational, by Mrs. J. S. C. Austin; "A Heroine," a delightful story by M. Rebecca H. Davis; "Wall Flowers," by the popular Marion Harland; and the great story "Gullity or Not Gullity," by Amanda M. Douglas. Space forbids mentioning the other novels; but they are all the same high grade, popular, bright, romantic, spicy, interesting stories.

The 35 novels and the current issue of Household Topics will be sent you the day your order is received. This will supply you with a season's reading for a mere song; and will be appreciated by all in the household. Send 30 cents to Household Topics Publishing Co., P. O. box 1159, New York City, N. Y. 36-12t.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Haslam, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he has been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is today enjoying good health. If you have throat, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

KNIGHTHOOD.
Is a bay horse, 15 1/2 hands high, good style, heavy mane and tail. He is also a horse of action and fast. His blood is pure and his pedigree is in his veins. His breeding is excellent and his colts are not only fast, but without exception are the best of the breed. He has produced a mile at Indianapolis last October in 2:29, the fastest time ever made. We have a lot of 2-year-olds that are not only good, but show great speed. Two of them trotted quarter last fall in 1:47 and 1:48, and were never beaten. KNIGHTHOOD is the best all-purpose horse that has ever been in this country. In breeding to this horse you get something that will last. If you get a fast one, you are all right, and if not, you get a horse that will last. He is a good sire, and his stock will be verified by calling on the third hill. We have our colts and fillies, or by talking to Joe Foster, who has handled some of the best KNIGHTHOOD stock at this time. Alabaster is a sire of a lot of horses. KNIGHTHOOD's dam, Ophee, is mated, being by a son of Alamo and out of a stallion by the sire of Alamo. His second dam, Queen 1866, is a dam of the best who has been in the hill.

KNIGHTHOOD will make the season of 1894 at "Maple Hill Farm," and will be at $15 to insure a Live Colt.

Money due when colts come or mare parted with. If the season money is not in thirty days after the colts are foaled, $20 will be due and collected after that time.
